In line with the guidelines for United Nations for governments, NGOs and private companies, the business of Aavas is linked with 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The core of Aavas comprises SDG 11 on Sustainable Cities and Communities. Company's business of affordable home loans to the low-income and middle-income groups is in direct alignment with SDG target 11.1 - of ensuring access to adequate, safe and affordable Housing for All. This proves that our business is not only an economic catalyst but socially relevant as well.

Aavas SDG commitment coupled, with operating discipline, has been responsible for business sustainability in around 13 years of our operations. At a time when servicing the documented customers would have been easier, Aavas selected to service the mortgage financing needs of the unserved, underserved and undocumented. At a time when it would have been easier to stay within an urban comfort zone, Aavas provided affordable housing finance to the middle- and low-income groups across rural and semi-urban India. At a time when it would have been easier to fund male members, Aavas engaged with women and empowered them through home ownership.

The result is that we do not see our role only as mortgage finance providers but as social catalysts helping build an equitable society.
